Clearwater Marine Aquarium offers half-price admission to college football fans

Clearwater, FL (Jan. 4, 2018) – Rescued dolphin at Clearwater Marine Aquarium Nicholas is famous for his accurate predictions of sporting events. Next, Nicholas will predict the NCAA College Football Playoff National Championship on Friday, Jan. 5 at 11:30 a.m. Clearwater Marine Aquarium encourages all college football fans to visit for half priced admission when wearing their favorite college football team’s logo apparel during CMA’s Tail-Gate Week. This offer runs through Jan. 8, 2018.

Friday will be the second time Nick picks the NCAA College Football Playoff National Championship winner. This year it’s between the University of Alabama Crimson Tide and the University of Georgia Bulldogs. Nicholas accurately predicted Clemson to win last year. Nicholas is currently 5 for 6 in his predictions.

Nicholas is a rescued bottlenose dolphin that was found stranded with severe sunburns. He was orphaned and unable to learn necessary survival skills as a calf, therefore he became a permanent resident at Clearwater Marine Aquarium. Making unbelievable sports predictions is just one of Nick’s many talents he has demonstrated and a special part of his animal enrichment.
